

- Introduction
- Background
- How to Coach
- Thoughts on Handling Problem Performance
- The Manager's Collaborator

Introduction

What is Coaching?

How Will Learning Coaching Help My Job?

Roles

If you're a team leader, supervisor or manager, someone needs and deserves your help.

"How well am I doing?"

"How can I get better?"

"What does the organization expect?"

"Is this the role for me?"

These are questions your people are asking.

"How well is this person performing?"

"How do you know?"

"What help are you providing?"

These are questions someone above you is asking.

Welcome to Everyday Coaching, software to help you help people and be accountable at the same time! How you use Everyday Coaching is up to you. You can proceed by going through the chapters in order, or you can go to only those areas that interest you.

Next: What is Coaching?

